

About Our Company

The Grossman Burn Centers have established a global reputation as innovative leaders in burn treatment. Dr. Peter H. Grossman, M.D., FACS, serves as the medical director of both the Grossman Burn Centers and the Methodist Burn Center in Dallas. He has gained international acclaim for his management of some of the most challenging and high-profile burn cases worldwide. Recognizing the need for enhanced outpatient burn care in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, Dr. Grossman initiated the creation of the Grossman Burn and Wound Alliance outpatient clinic, located in Pavilion 2 Tower of Methodist Dallas Medical Center.

Grossman Burn and Wound Alliance

High quality burn and wound care in the heart of Dallas

Why us?

Dr. Grossman and his team are dedicated to achieving optimal outcomes for their patients. To ensure the highest level of care, they prioritize long-term relationships with their patients. The outpatient clinic facilitates ongoing follow-up and surgical interventions, contributing to enhanced functionality and improved cosmetic appearance.

Our Mission

The Grossman Burn and Wound Alliance is dedicated to providing ongoing burn education to the Dallas-Fort Worth area, with the goal of preventing burn incidents whenever possible. At GBWA, we strive not only to treat our patients with the highest level of respect and care but also to proactively prevent catastrophic events when feasible.

How it Works

Our outpatient burn care services are offered strictly by appointment, ensuring that each patient receives focused and personalized attention during their treatment. This approach not only enhances the quality of care but also supports our commitment to safety by preventing overcrowding and reducing wait times, which can be crucial in emergency situations. We require prior authorization to help ensure that care remains as affordable as possible, allowing us to offer accessible and efficient services. Furthermore, we take pride in providing comprehensive burn education, which is essential for fostering safety and prevention within the communities we serve. Educating the public about fire safety, first aid, and burn prevention is a vital part of our mission to reduce the incidence and severity of burns.
